DESTINATION

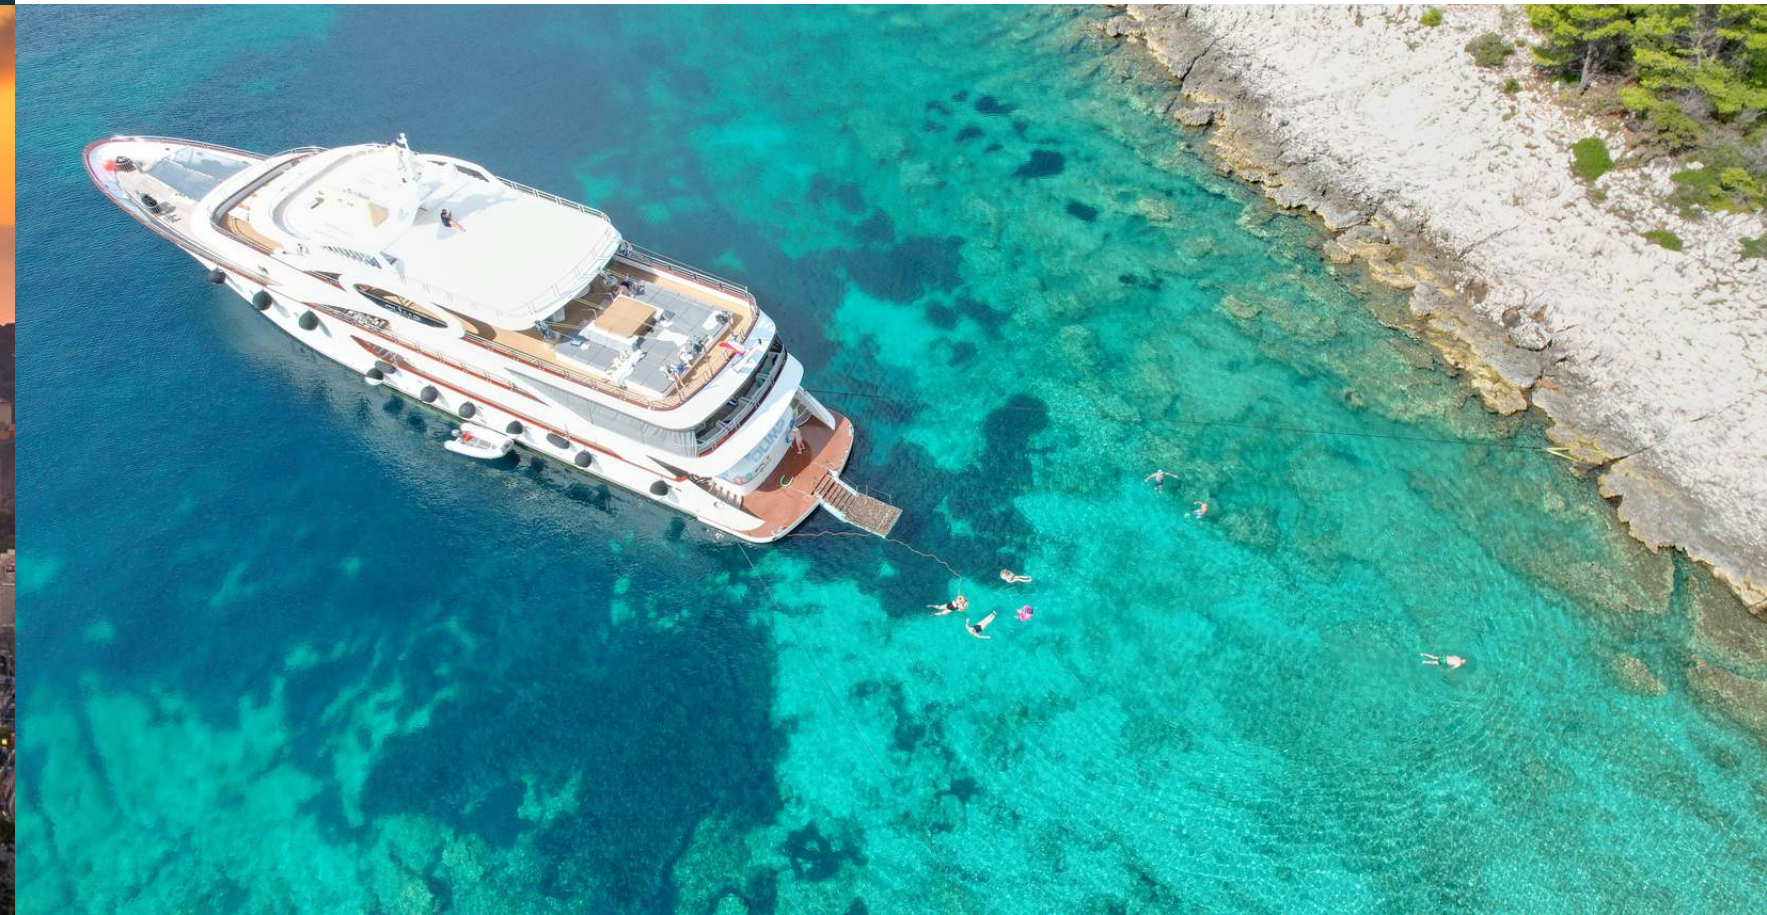

Croatia

THE ADRIATIC SEA, ON YOUR TERMS

Croatia is one of the best places for a yacht holiday. While the western Mediterranean fills up, the Adriatic stays quiet. More than a thousand islands, most of them empty. Bays where you can anchor alone. Villages of three hundred where dinner is arranged on three hours' notice and the wine is older than most cellars in Paris.

Your captain knows the coves that don't appear on charts, and the konobas that keep the kitchen open as long as you want.

INTERIOR COMFORT

AFTER DARK

Two ways to end the day, depending on who's still awake.

The cinema: Full screen, deep sofas, popcorn if anyone asks for it.

The cigar lounge: Fewer chairs, lower light, and nowhere to be in the morning.

QUIET HOUR

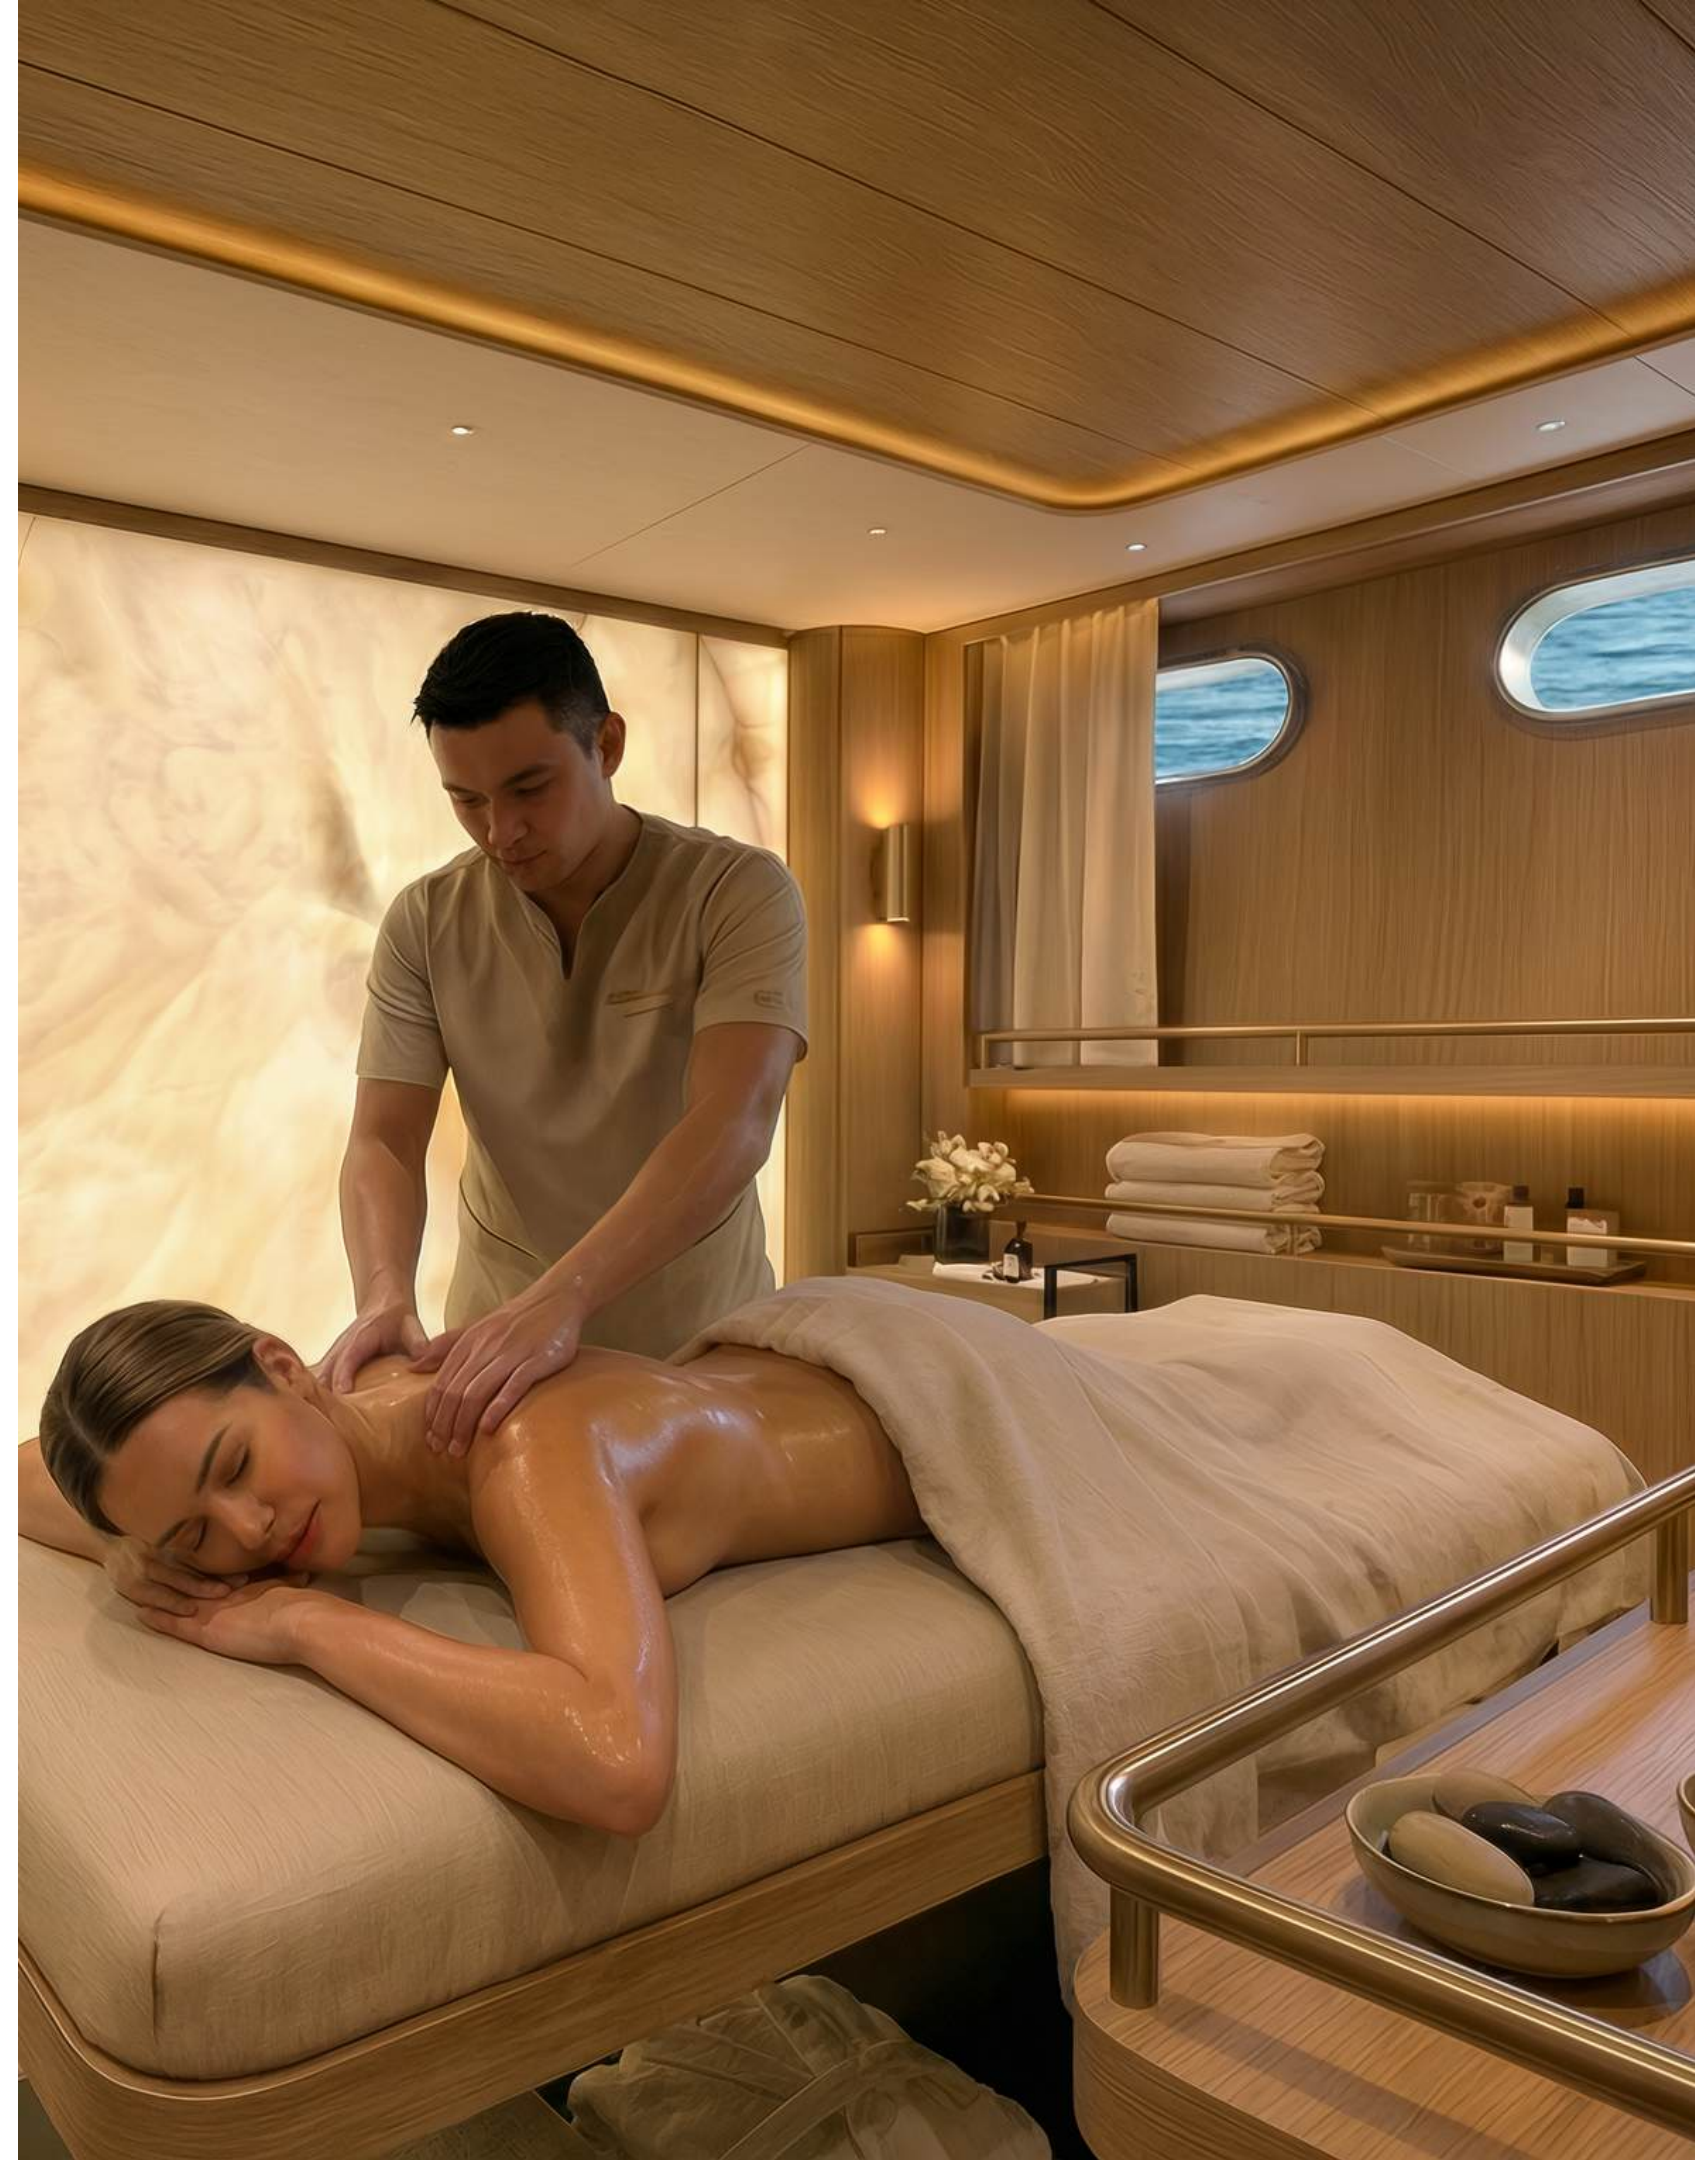

Some hours are for slowing down.

Some are for staying sharp.

The gym: Weights, cardio, and a window facing whichever coast you woke up next to.

The spa: Onyx walls lit from within, the sea outside the door, and a treatment that runs as long as you ask for it.

LIFE ON DECK

IN THE SEA

Named for the mountain. Built for the sea.

The water is the point. Above it, below it, or somewhere in between.

eFoil for the height.

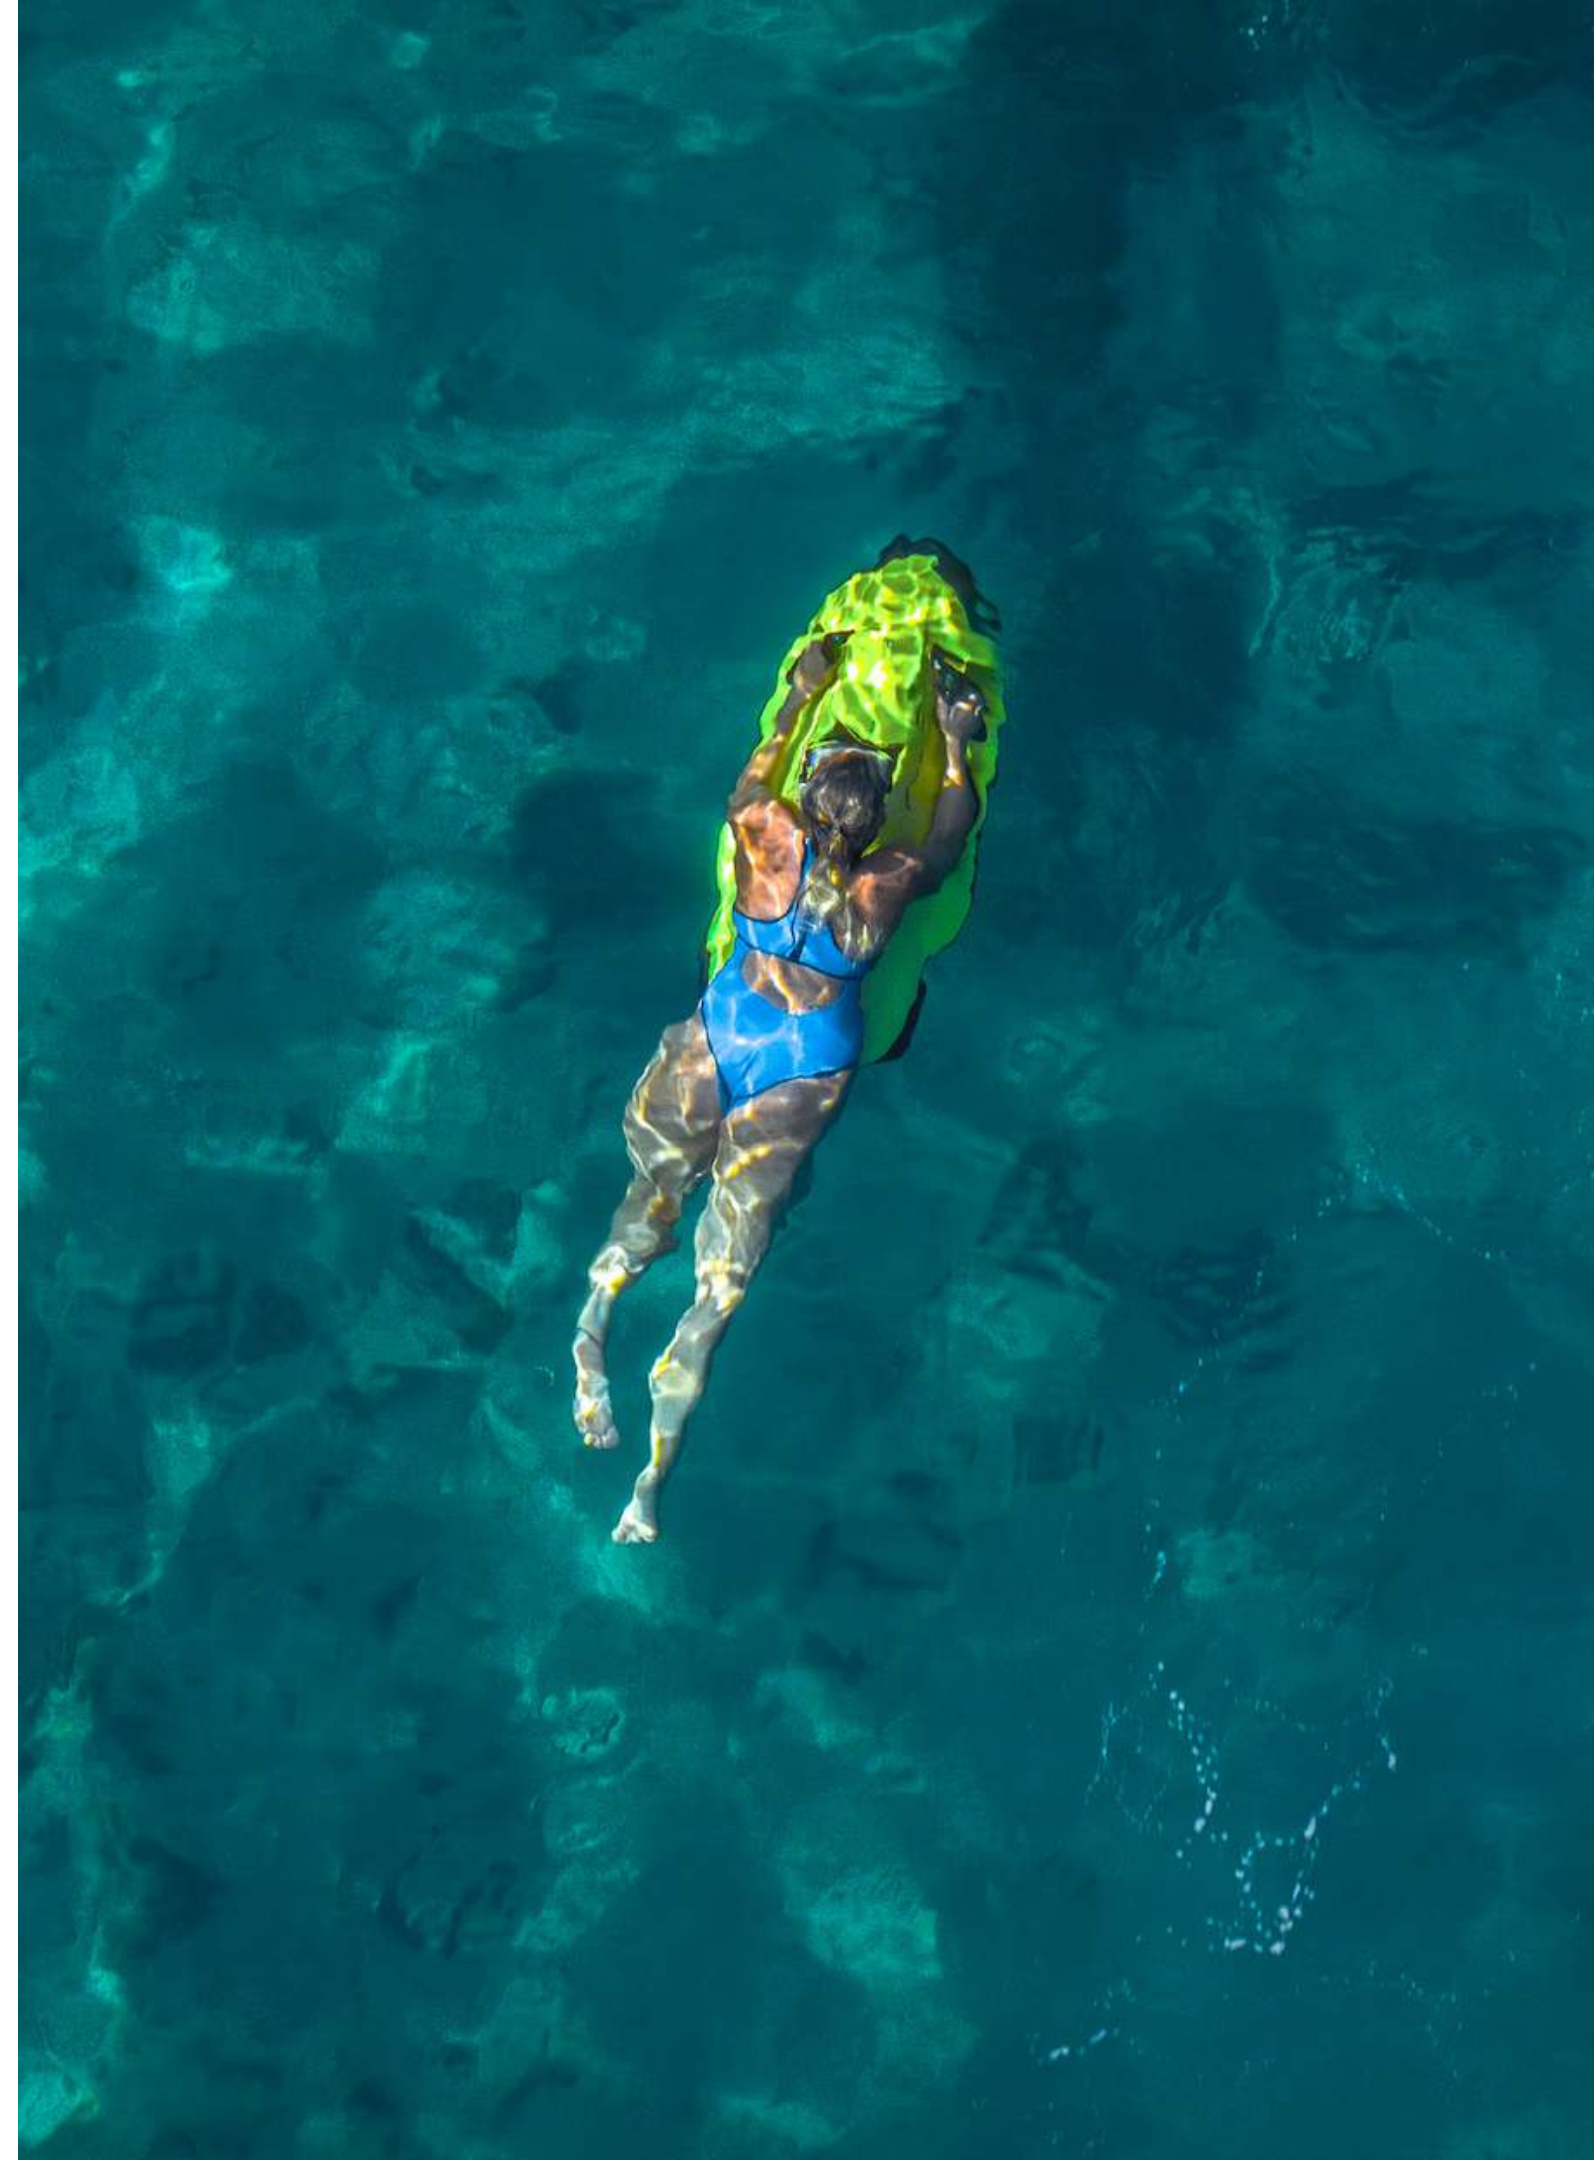

2 Seabobs for the silence below.

A 6×6 m floating sea pool with no current to fight.

A waterslide nobody tries until the second day, and nobody stops using after that.

2 Jet skis, 2 paddleboards, waterskis, a Ringo ride, a Tube ride and a wakeboard. All in the water in under a minute.

The fuel for the water toys is deducted from the A.P.A.

DINING AT SEA

Sea bass caught this morning.

Olive oil from the island we visited yesterday.

A table set wherever the light is best.

Bon Appétit!
